Specification

The examiner has not checked the specification to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors (grammatical, typographical and idiomatic). Cooperation of the applicant(s) is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant(s) may become aware of in the specification, in the claims and in any future amendment(s) that applicant(s) may file.

Applicant(s) is also requested to complete the status of any copending applications referred to in the specification by their Attorney Docket Number or Application Serial Number, if any.

The status of the parent application(s) and/or any other application(s) cross-referenced to this application, if any, should be updated in a timely manner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for a process for performing a catalytic shift process, does not reasonably provide enablement for claims that recite "a catalytic reaction" of a "process gas". It is not apparent what the process actually is since neither reactants, products or conditions are identified. Accordingly, the skilled artisan would have to employ undue experimentation to determine the scope of these claims since at this time they embrace any and every catalytic reaction. Clearly this claim is directed to myriad chemical conversions neither contemplated nor disclosed by applicant. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 7 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Because claim 9 is silent regarding feedstock, product and reaction conditions, the claim is indefinite because the examiner has no way of knowing what constitutes the reaction under consideration. Therefore, the metes and bounds of the claimed subject matter are not clear. As presently claimed, this process cannot even be properly searched because it embraces any catalytic process known.

Claim 7 is unclear because it depends from a claim requiring two aluminas, but recites only one. The claim might be clearer if it was amended to depend from claim 4 and rewritten to recite that the processing aid is graphite.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1, 4-6 and 8 are allowable over the prior art of record. The prior art fails to teach or suggest a composition comprising a copper containing catalyst and an upstream guard bed comprising lead oxide particles formed by mixing the oxide with two or more hydrated aluminas. Applicant's specification provides additional evidence of non-obviousness since the instantly claimed invention performs considerably better than commercially available lead oxide and alumina compositions, which showing demonstrates the unpredictability of the selection of appropriate material for the guard bed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Applicants are advised that any evidence to be provided under 37 CFR 1.131 or 1.132 and any amendments to the claims and specification should be submitted prior to final rejection to be considered timely. It is anticipated that the next office action will be a final rejection.
